TEMPERANCE PEOPLE ARE AWAKENED.

Enthusiastic Meeting Held at Baptist Church Sunday Night—Officers Elected.

FIGHT IS ON IN EARNEST.

Committees to circulate the petitions asking for a county election were appointed, and before the service was over the temperance people were organized and ready for work.

The officers chosen were: Rev. B. M. Currie, chairman; Rev. J. T. Lewis, vice-chairman; R. L. Oelze, secretary and treasurer.

Remarkable is Mrs. Eliza Seeboldt.

The most remarkable old woman in this country lives near West Point in this county. She is Mrs. Eliza Seeboldt and is ninety-three years of age. She has recently dropped seven acres of corn in a field for her son, and did it with as much ease as if she had been twenty-three instead of ninety-three. She only weighs eighty-five pounds, but when it comes to activity and energy this old lady is right there all the time. She walks two miles every day and never complains of any fatigue. Her daughter, Mrs. John Hinkle, lives a mile from her home on a farm, near West Point, and she makes daily trips to see her and back to her home. If anything was needed to tell the story of her remarkable preservation her hearing is perfect and she reads without the use of glasses.—E-town News.

Quite a Marksman

Miss Mary Bandy, of near Bewleyville, has become quite a marksman in the way of killing crows and foxes. They seem to have been disturbing her poultry yard and in order to destroy them she got her shotgun and bid behind a bush and gave one shot and killed the fox without any trouble at all. This is in one case "where she was as sly as a fox."

MOST BEAUTIFUL HOME WEDDING

Miss Ruth Copeland Haynes And Mr. Samuel Prince Davis United in Marriage.

THE REV. LEWIS OFFICIATED.

A beautiful home wedding in all its appointments was that of Miss Ruth Copeland Haynes and Mr. Samuel Prince Davis which was solemnized at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Haynes, yesterday morning.

Mrs. George Short, who was dressed in a dainty light blue gown, carried sweet peas and received the guests as they arrived. They stood in the front parlor which had been artistically decorated under the direction of Mr. Harry Newsom. A large altar of potted plants was made in the bay windows.

A lovely bridal chorus was rendered by Mrs. L. T. Reid, Mrs. J. H. Rowland, Misses Eva and Eliza May, Lawrence Murray and Dr. A. A. Simons, just before the wedding march was played by Miss Frances Smith.

Misses Elizabeth Skillman and Lenora McGavock, the flower girls, formed the aisle with white ribbons from the back parlor and they were followed by the bride and groom. The ceremony was solemnized at 9 o'clock by the Rev. James T. Lewis, and they were married with the bride's ring.

During the marriage Miss Eva May sang very sweetly, "Melody of Love." Immediately after the ceremony delicious refreshments were served to the guests who registered in the bride's book. Just before the wedding party made their departure for the depot fruit punch, nuts and mints were served. Miss Irene Jarboe, who is an especial friend of the bride, presided at the punch bowl.

Mrs. and Mrs. Davis left on the east bound train for an extensive wedding trip.

WHITE HOUSE COURTESY.

The Way President Polk Threw Down the Barriers.

If the president of the United States were to be elected by the people, it is probable that John Adams would be chosen. Adams was a man of great character and high ability. He was the first president to be elected by the people. He was a man of great character and high ability. He was the first president to be elected by the people.

It was President Polk who first had the courage to disregard the political passions of the times by inviting Henry Clay, who had been his competitor, to dine with him and Mrs. Polk in the White House. It was near the close of the Polk administration, during which Clay had been a senator most of the time, and it shocked the Democratic sentiment of the time when it was announced that Clay had dined with President Polk, not on a state occasion, but in a friendly and familiar way.

EDUCATED BEARDS.

Whiskers in Paris Reach the Pinnacle of Cultivation.

It is in Paris that the whisker reaches its highest state of civilization and development. The luxurious verdure on the faces of some of the Parisians who strut along the boulevard every day can be compared to nothing but the riot of vegetation in the tropics. Every Parisian has whiskers—much whiskers if he can, but some whiskers at any rate. He supplements nature's efforts with the best aids of the barber and trains and nurses his hirsute appendages with anxious care.

The Parisians spend hours on their beards and educate them into formal gardens, set pieces, shrubbery, terrace and vista effects. They lay out hair-scapes with them, arrange them in undulating meadows and twine them on pergolas. There is the long, spade collection much sought by men with black beards, which consists of about a foot of hair cut square across the bottom and adds much glory to the wearer, for the whiskers always shine and glisten in the sun. There are side winders and pointed ones, the heart shaped and the curved, the waved and the plain. A man who can train his whiskers to grow in a new way is as much of a celebrity as a man who writes a good poem or paints a good picture.—Samuel G. Blythe in Everybody's Magazine.

A Golden Wedding means that man and wife have lived to a good age and consequently have kept healthy. The best way to keep healthy is to see that your liver does its duty 365 days out of 365. A DISCARDED THRONE.

Louis Napoleon's State Chair, Which Was Not Used.

On the eve of the Franco-German war when the Emperor Louis Napoleon entered upon the conflict which ended so disastrously to himself and his countrymen a couple of strangers appeared at a German town. They brought with them a large pack, a case, which on their arrival was carried to a hotel. Here the unknown visitors remained some time and eventually disappeared without paying the bill, which amounted to a considerable sum.

The landlord, whose curiosity had often been aroused with reference to the possible contents of the case, at last determined to open it, and on doing so found a handsomely designed and richly upholstered chair. This was adorned with the French imperial arms, eagle and Louis Napoleon's monogram, and beneath it was a cushioned box which played when the cushion was set upon.

It is supposed that the throne-for such it is believed to have been—in the event of success attending the French army was to have been used by the emperor at Berlin after the capture of the German metropolis. Fate, however, spoiled the imperial project; hence the sudden and precipitate flight of the custodians of the chair. The widow of the hotel keeper a few years later sold it to England, where it eventually found a purchaser.—Stray Stories.

Best The World Affords.

"It gives me unbounded pleasure to recommend Bucklan's Arnica Salve," says J. W. Jenkins, of Chapel Hill, N. C. "I am convinced it is the best salve the world affords. It cured a fellow on my thumb, and it never fails to heal any erysipelous, burn or wound to which it is applied. 35c., at Severs Drug Store."

Circulation of the Blood.

The idea of some sort of movement of the blood in man and the lower animals was possessed by Aristotle and other Greeks and by the physicians of the Alexandrian school as well as by the doctors and surgeons of the middle ages. In fact, even the village barbers knew of such movement. But no one, not even the wisest of men, had any conception of a continuous stream returning to its source—a circulation in the true sense of the word—or of the function of the heart as the motor power of the movement of the blood until it was demonstrated by Harvey in 1628.

The "Letters of Junius."

The vexed question of the real authorship of the "Letters of Junius" has never been positively settled. Mr. Chubb's learned work to show that Sir Philip Francis was the author of the famous letters, while a strong production, falls of absolute proof. The attempt was made to prove that Thomas Paine wrote the letters, but that, too, failed to convince. The question is still a mystery, though the balance of the evidence is in favor of Sir Philip Francis.

"Physical culture, father, is perfectly lovely. To develop the arms I grasp this rod by one end and move it slowly from my head to my feet. 'Well, well,' exclaimed my father. 'What won't science discover? If that rod had straw at the other end you'd be sweeping.'—Louisville Courier-Journal."

MEPHISTO'S RING.

A Jewel That Bears a Dazzling Reputation in Spain.

It seems strange to read in these days of a ring which is believed to have an evil influence over its owner and which is known as "Mephisto's ring." Yet such a ring exists and until recent years was in possession of the Spanish royal family. The ring is set with a very large emerald, in the center of which is inserted a ruby.

It is first heard of in the sixteenth century, since when the kings who owned it have suffered disasters unnumbered, while the whole country has gradually sunk from its former eminent position.

When the late Hispano-American war broke out the ring was presented to a church. The sacred building shortly after was destroyed by fire. The next resting place of the ring was a museum, which was twice struck by lightning while holding the ominous jewel.

DISEASE AND PAIN.

The Theory That Suffering Is Mental More Than Physical.

A great deal of alleged physical suffering is primarily mental. A great many people have "fixed ideas" of disease, pain, debility, fatigue, dread, inefficiency and unexpressible woes. Much often than we realize these can be transplanted without surgery or medication. I do not mean that they are not real sufferings. They are as real as the grave, but they are not physical in physical infirmity. They are not to be cured with physics. The mind becomes possessed of a conviction that a certain part of the body is inflamed and in pain to that part in spite of all the medicine in the world. Hundreds of people refuse to get well after the physician has cured them. It is not his fault, and it is not their fault. But they have simply had disease suggested to them until they can not think at all except upon that as a suggestion. It is an "auto suggestion" or it is a family suggestion and the only way to remove it is by the vigor of counter suggestion of another person.

The value of a "fixed idea" of health, as being only the removal of a fixed idea of disease where there was no organic reason for it, will hardly be disputed. Yet one cannot overemphasize the multitude of that there are of these invalids sitting in padded chairs and making ready for the hearse whose trouble is primarily mental, and how many there are, again, who have a slight organic infirmity and have increased its effects a thousandfold by what we may call "household suggestion."—Miss Eastman in Atlantic Monthly.

I consider it one of the best medicines of its kind in the world, and I used it in 1902 before it would have saved me a hundred dollar doctor's bill." Sold at Severs drug store.

COMFORTING WORDS.

Many a Cloverport Household Will Find Them So.

To have the pains and aches of a bad back removed; to be entirely free from annoying, dangerous urinary disorders is enough to make any kidney sufferer grateful. To tell how this great change can be brought about will prove comforting words to hundreds of Cloverport readers.

Mrs. A. F. Alms, 615 Locust St., Owensboro, Ky., says: "I have used Doan's Kidney Pills with good results, and my husband, also, received benefit from their use. He had been subject to an extreme lameness in the small of his back that made every attempt to stoop or straighten on extreme pain. Reading of Doan's Kidney Pills he procured a box took them according to directions and was entirely cured of his trouble. We have every confidence in Doan's Kidney Pills."

England's Day.

April 23 is a memorable day in English history. To begin with, it is the day dedicated to the patron saint of England St. George. It was through the crusades that St. George was thus selected. He was born in Cyprus, and later his bravery against the Romans became a military tradition; hence the regard for him on the part of the English warriors who engaged in the crusades. On this day also Shakespeare is reported to have been born and died. Later in 1605 Charles I. was crowned king on April 23. Lastly Wordsworth died on this momentous day—London Standard.

Animal Life.

The whale hunts all animals in point of longevity, his age being placed conservatively at 800 to 1,000 years. The tortoise comes next, with an age limit extending from 100 to 300 years. The elephant, the camel, the eagle and the crocodile are each credited with 100 years and upward. The carp is an elusive creature. Its age having been figured at from seventy-five to 175 years. Tigers, leopards, jaguars and hyenas live some twenty-five years; cougars and probably much longer in the wilderness. Swans, parrots and ravens live 200 years, pelicans forty to fifty years, hawks thirty to forty years, eagles twenty, monkeys and baboons sixteen to eighteen, squirrels and rabbits seven years, quon bees four years, working bees six months and drones four months—Minneapolis Journal.

Catching Deer by Hand. "This red deer," said the keeper "was caught by hand."

"But a red deer is the fleetest of the fleet."

"Right you are, but this fellow was caught by hand all the same. It is a feat that is often done in the winter in the still woods choked with snow. You see a deer and chase it. Getting confused, it soon deserts the firm deer paths or runways, and then it is helped by its flounders treading up to its neck in snow."

"You hurry toward it. Harder and harder it struggles; more and more tired it becomes. In a very little while it is so exhausted that you can go and take it up as though it were a baby. The swift, strong, healthy creature is at weak and helpless as a babe."—New Orleans Times Democrat.

At Versailles And Estill

John D. Gregory left yesterday for a short visit to his daughter, Mrs. R. N. Hudson, at Versailles. After spending a few days there he will go to Fast Springs. Mr. Gregory thinks that his visit will prove very beneficial to him physically.

There's nothing so good for a sore throat as Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil. Cures it in a few hours. Relieves any pain in any part.

They Won the Pool.

It was certainly reprehensible, though one cannot but smile at the odd trick played one night by half a dozen men in Paris. These individuals rang at the door of a private house, and before the servant could announce their arrival the leader had donned an official scarf and introduced himself as a police commissioner, seized about $1,000 which was lying on the table as stakes in a game of poker, saying he would not trouble the host and his guests to call at the office that evening, but would be obliged if they would do so the next morning. The "commissioner," with his escort, politely departed. When the players dutifully called at the office the next day, their visit created visible surprise, and they learned, to their disgust, that this police commissioner of the night before had tricked them and their $1,000 had been carried off by a gang of thieves. So much for playing poker and having an uneasy conscience!—Boston Herald.

An Easy Word.

This is what happened to a Glasgow workman when he tried to make his wife's home life happy by reading the police news to her as contained in his evening paper. In due course he reached an interesting trial for assault, the report of which concluded as follows:

"This case was held over until tomorrow, as the presiding magistrate said he found considerable difficulty in pronouncing sentence."

"Dear me," commented the reader's wife, "he cannot have been a man of much education, surely, or he would have found any difficulty in pronouncing an easy word like that?"—Dundee Advertiser.

A Bit of Advice.

This is a bit of advice offered by the Gunnison Gazette:

Young man, if you should come across a girl who, with a face as radiant as a sunflower, says as you appear at the door, "I will be busy for half an hour yet, for the dishes are not washed," just quit right down on the doorstep and wait for her, because some other chap may come along and secure the prize and then there you will have to lament it.

Weak Kidneys

Weak Kidneys, surely point to weak kidney nerves. The kidneys, like the heart, and the lungs, are the great organs of the body, and their weakness, not in the organs themselves, but in the nerves that control and guide them, is the cause of many of the most serious diseases. Dr. Shoop's Restorative is a medicine specifically prepared to reach these controlling nerves. To doctor the kidneys alone is futile. It is a waste of time and of money as well.

If your back aches or is weak, if the urine is scant, or if dark and strong, if you have symptoms of Bright's or other distressing or dangerous kidney disease, try Dr. Shoop's Restorative. It will make or break you, and see what it can and will do for you. Druggists recommend and sell.

AN ADMINISTRATIVE PERSPECTIVE.

Secretary and Mrs. Taft have said a word from which it is possible to get with fair definiteness their views of the responsibilities and duties that attach to the administrative life, the wife for her part and the man for his.

The Republican candidate's conception of the duties of the President and of his bearing in office, are what might have been expected from Mr. Taft by those who have watched his course as a worker in the Cabinet of Mr. Roosevelt. He is democratic, and is not afraid to let it be known.

He says: "The President should be always near the people in thought and as near them in person as his position will permit. In common with the people he is human, and he must ask their charity for his mistake. When they have ceased to believe in his sincerity and uprightness of purpose, his is a cheerless task."

"Once convinced that he has deceived and is carrying out their real wish, neither elated by any outburst of applause nor diverted by any outburst of censure, he must proceed unwaveringly, always by lawful methods, to the accomplishment of the popular will."

It has been known that the Republican candidate was in sympathy with the progressive policies of his party. He makes assurance doubly sure in this, which he has just said: "A President at this time has work before him clearly defined. The enforcement of the law, equally against high and low, the powerful and the weak, should be his first thought. The danger to our country from laxity or favoritism in this is the greatest one we have to face."

The wife of the Secretary who is likely to be the President was asked if when in the White House she would interest herself in national politics. She gave an American woman's answer: "As the wife of Mr. Taft I would interest myself in anything that vitally affected him or in which he was absorbed. I do not believe in a woman meddling in politics or in asserting herself along these lines, but I think any woman can discuss with her husband topics of national interest, and in many instances she might give her opinions of questions with which thorough study and contact she has become familiar."

The official and home life of the Taft administration it seems to bear close resemblance to that of another administration of which the country has approved. Chicago Evening Post.

Stand by the men who stand for the right.

We are glad there is another convert in this county to the non use of money and whisky in elections.

A glorious soaking rain made everybody glad last Monday. It was worth thousands of dollars to the farmers.

In behalf of the people of the entire county the News extends to Judge Weed Chief sympathy in the death of his beloved wife.

Not only the United States is for Taft, but the whole world is for him. This name and fame is world-wide, and no man has a higher standing.

Wheat in this section is not turning out as well as was expected. It is about a two-thirds crop. Local mills are paying 80 cents, and say it is grading up well.

The Henderson Packet Company close the saloons on all their boats today. They say the saloon is a menace to their business and to their patrons along the river. They have cut it out.

William Jennings Bryan is credited with this bon mot: "The man who tries to conduct his business without advertising is like the fellow who throws his sweetheart a kiss in the dark. He knows what he is doing, but no one else does."

One of the best things in the Republican platform is the tariff plank. It is a declaration that means something, and always the same something to everybody. The tariff is the issue in this campaign. If you haven't read this plank in the platform get it and read it.

The largest gathering of tobacco growers ever held in Kentucky has been planned by Secretary Newman of the State Fair. It is proposed to make September 18, Tobacco Growers' Day at the State Fair, and all members of various associations are expected to be on that day for a big demonstration in the interest of the growers. It is hoped that this gathering will prove a great success from the standpoint of numbers and in all other respects.

"I shall offer no man one dollar or one jug for his support," says Judge Henry DeLaven Moorman in his announcement as a candidate for Commonwealth's Attorney in the Ninth Judicial District. This has the right ring, the true ring, and we congratulate the young man on his courage. It is, as he says, a step toward higher politics, higher morals, better government and greater respect for law and order. We believe Judge Moorman means just what he says. He is truly convicted and converted to the higher ideal in politics, and in seeking the support of his people for office, he proposes to carry these ideals out. He has tried the old way and found to his sorrow that there is nothing in it. We are glad to see this awakening in the young men of our country. Grover Cleveland never said a truer thing than that "Public office is a public trust." This stand of Judge Moorman should draw to him the support of all good citizens of all parties. If you want to get money and whisky out of politics and the offices, the thing to do is to stand by the men who are above their use.

GREAT LAND OPENING WEST

A number of exceptional opportunities are now being offered by the Government for enterprising and intelligent farmers to secure choice farms on a dozen or more large irrigated projects which are nearing completion.

Due to the rapid narrowing of the unoccupied public domain, it is doubtful if these opportunities will ever occur again. It is probable, therefore, that the West will see one of the greatest influxes of homeseekers in 1908 that has been witnessed in many years.

The great fertility and wonderful crop yields from irrigated lands, and the favorable terms the Government offers settlers, warrants the belief that before the year closes not a single farm will be without its entryman. These farms are located in North Dakota, Montana, Wyoming and Nevada.

A letter addressed to The Statelander, U. S. Reclamation Service, Washington, D. C., will secure full information concerning the location, soil, climate, crop possibilities, and terms of disposal.

BEAUTIFUL SERVICES.

Irving Missionary Day A

Glorious Celebration—Large Crowd And Fine Dinner.

The much talked of and planned for Missionary Day has come and gone leaving its sweet memories with us, and it was indeed a great and memorable day. The Rev. Farrington's sermon at 11 o'clock and his explanations of what the world is doing for Baptist Missions bringing the work down from its largest to smallest scope, including the Southern Baptist Convention, State Work, Association with local church and other churches in the town and community ought to arouse the Missionary Spirit in each christian citizen. The free will offering was very good but not as great as expected. Over one hundred dollars were given. Miss Ella Hensley (Breckenridge County daughter) who has consecrated her life and educated herself for Foreign work, and will take passage for China early in August, was here and gave a most interesting talk in regard to her call to the foreign field. In answer to a call for volunteer workers made by the pastor at the close of the sermon, Miss Beniah Mudd, a sweet spirited young woman of only sixteen summers came forward and told the people why she felt impressed to carry the precious word of our Lord where it is not heard. The church and community at large are proud that (one of us) will go as a sweet messenger to explain the sweetest story of love in the world to the unknown, while we who are left behind and are not so highly favored may have the delightful privilege of sending her.

At noon a most auspicious report was served in the shady grove adjoining Mr. Frank Peyton's home. At 3 p. m. Dr. Prestidge, Editor of the Baptist World, preached and at 4 o'clock the order of Baptism was administered to the following young people: Katharine Wimp, Ida Thompson and Mary Collins. Mr. Charlie Hill, business manager of the Baptist Book Concern was here representing and taking subscriptions for the oldest denomination paper in the South, The Western Recorder.

All Day Services.

The members of the Sunday School at Hardins School House gave an all day service at their grove near the church last Sunday and a most delightful day was had. Rev. Mr. Craig, of Hancock county, and V. G. Babbage, of this city, were the speakers. They have a thriving Sunday school at that place, with Mr. Jackson as the superintendent. Mrs. Isom leads the singing assisted by a good number of young people. The good people of the neighborhood were on hand with their baskets well filled and at noon a fine dinner was spread.

"Best Paper on Earth."

Frank Kennedy was in town Saturday and called at the News office for a short visit. Mr. Kennedy said, "The News is the best paper on earth, and I feel that I am living in a strange country when it does not come in my home." His words are appreciated and do more good than he can ever realize.

HARDINSBURG

Russell Compton and Vivian Haswell received appointments to the State University at the recent examination.

The County Judge, the County Attorney and the County Superintendent are this week carrying out the provisions of the new school law, by redistributing the county so as to eliminate the poorer districts. The law, while it is designed to give bigger and better managed schools, will work hardships upon those neighborhoods with a sparse population.

Franklin Beard has returned from Falls of Rough, where he was attending a house party given by Miss Jennie Greene.

The prospect of the Breckenridge Fair this fall is brighter each day. Sept. 1, 2 and 3 will be red letter days in the history of the stock and farming interests of Breckenridge. The privileges and concessions are being disposed of at better prices than were secured last year. The catalogues of the fair contain $700 worth of advertising. From the catalogue advertising alone an eight percent dividend could be declared.

B. F. Beard is out again after a temporary indisposition.

W. H. Gibson and D. E. Deacon, of Louisville, were in town Monday.

A. X. Kincheloe is able to be about after an illness of three or four weeks.

Mrs. John D. Shaw and Miss Rula Hensley have returned from visits to Stephensport, Brandenburg and Irvington.

The Board of Education of the Methodist Episcopal Conference of Kentucky began its annual session last night, with an address by Bishop Hughes, of Indiana. After a two days session, the district conference of the Louisville District will begin a three days session. A fine program is being rendered and Hardinsburg feels honored in entertaining such a gathering.

Frank Mercer left for Louisville Monday afternoon.

Dear Mr. Babbage—Kindly change the address on my paper from Seattle, Wash., to the address below. We have just had the most pleasant trip of our lives, having sailed on a large ocean liner out of Puget Sound through the Straits of Juan del Fuca out into the Pacific, thence into San Francisco Bay coming in through the Golden Gate. Mother enjoyed the trip very much. Three days out of sight of land and just enough seasickness to make it interesting. With best regards I am, Very truly,

SUN ECLIPSE

Viewed By Many—Event Occurred On Time.

The pale-faced moon, in his race with old Sol in his burning June dress, came about halfway getting the best of the old man for nearly four hours Sunday morning. When the eclipse was at its maximum probably a little over one-half of the sun's orb was obscured by as much of the moon which through smoked glasses presented the aspect of a burning ball-globe.

The event Sunday did not vary from the scheduled time as set by the astronomers of the world. To the few who took the trouble to view the eclipse from the beginning the shadow of the moon moved upon the sun's surface from the South. This began between 8:30 and 8:40 o'clock, and at 10:30 the eclipse was at its maximum, passing from the sun's surface entirely about 12:15 o'clock. At first the sky was clear and it was with difficulty that persons could view the eclipse, but shortly after nine o'clock clouds covered the surface of the sun and the view through smoked glasses was excellent.—Courier-Journal.

Many folks in Cloverport, especially the old people, observed the beautiful phenomena and it was worth taking the trouble to see. It has been twenty years since a partial eclipse of the sun,

How do You get Your Water?

There are Several Ways to Do It..

Are you using a modern, hygienic, labor-saving, convenient method, or do you use the windlass or rope or back-breaking pump in your well or cistern, and take water in a pail from your string?

If you are using these unhandy, uncomformable and unsatisfactory-if you stop-and think about-it methods, you will do well to investigate the Howard System for Domestic Water Supply.

At a small first cost you can have this system installed in your home, and after doing a few minutes' work each morning it enables you to have fresh cool water flow direct from well, cistern or spring to any part of the house or premises, by simply opening the valve at the point where water is desired.

All the work for the day may be done at one time by a special hand air pump that is easily operated with one hand.

If you will write us we will gladly furnish you full information regarding our system.

Every tobacco grower of Breckenridge County, is urged to be present at a meeting to be held in the court house at Hardinsburg at 2 o'clock on Saturday July 11, 1908. Three questions will come before the meeting. First, shall Breckenridge county tie itself to the five other counties in the Green River Tobacco Association. Second, shall Breckenridge county form an independent Association governed by fifteen farmers chosen by the members of the organizations. Third, under prevailing conditions shall Breckenridge county join any association at the present time or will she wait until further developments. This call is issued by direction of growers assembled June 18.

How To Keep Water Cold.

"Having tried it, I recommend the following mode of keeping ice water for a long time in a common pitcher," says a writer in Woman's Home Companion for July. "Place between two sheets of thick brown paper a layer of cotton batting about half an inch in thickness; fasten the ends of the paper and batting together, forming a circle, then sew or paste a crown over one end, making a box the shape of a stovepipe hat minus the rim. Place this over an ordinary pitcher filled with ice water, making it deep enough to rest on the table so as to exclude the air, and you will be astonished to see the length of time that the ice will keep and the water remain cold long after the ice has melted."

PRETTY DINNER.

Mr. and Mrs. D. S. Miller, Jr., gave a most pleasant but informal dinner party Monday night in honor of Misses Eunice and Mona Miller. Among those present were: Misses Irene and Annie Jarboe and Mr. Colin Miller.

Sometimes Worse.

A young lady was recently visiting an editorial office and looking over a proof by the editor. Approaching a case of drawers upon one of which was the label, "MRS." she said, "Now, how would you pronounce that?" "Oh," said the editor "sometimes we pronounce it miss and sometimes mess."—Lippincott's Magazine.

An American Scholar's Work.

It should be humiliating for Englishmen to reflect that it was left to an American, Francis James Child, to compile the five thick volumes of "English and Scottish Popular Ballads" which are familiar and invaluable to all students of the subject. But self reproach is forgotten in admiration of his work. Child himself unfortunately did not live to finish his task. However, he was more than a scholar and an editor. He was the founder of a school and he had the gift of being able to transmit to others both his learning and his zeal.—London Saturday Review.

His Fair Proposition.

"Are you able to support my daughter?" asked the old gentleman. "You know she has pretty expensive tastes, and I don't mind saying that the burden has been pretty hard for me at times."

"That's just the point," exclaimed the prospective benedict. "If I marry her we can divide the expense."

"Of course," said the poet's friend. "he has his faults, but he's a true poet. He gives his life to the service of the muse!"

"Yes," put in the critic, "but he seems to make the mistake of supposing that Bacchus is one of the muses."—Philadelphia Press.
